

Kevin Curtin

Kevin Curtin became the TARGET Center Director in April, 2007. In this role he oversees TARGET services in the areas of accessibility, ergonomics, and education. He speaks to groups about assistive technology, accessibility, Section 508, disability etiquette, ergonomics and other issues affecting persons with disabilities. Kevin comes to TARGET with an extensive background in assistive technology, Section 508 and issues affecting the employment of persons with disabilities. Prior to joining TARGET Kevin served as the Disability Program Manager at the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL). In this role he established and managed the DOL Accessibility Center and Section 508 Laboratory. Prior to joining DOL he worked as the Staff Interpreter/Disability Program Manager at the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) for six years. Kevin previously taught middle school math and science.