

Michael R. Johnson
Property Management Division
Office of Procurement and Property Management
Departmental Administration
U.S. Department of Agriculture

Mike is currently the Property Disposal Specialist in the Office of Procurement and Property Management (OPPM). He is responsible for USDA's personal property programs such as: the Federal Excess Personal Property program (also known as the 923 Program), Computers for Learning, and the Agency Asset Management System (which is a subsystem of GSAXcess). Mike is an active member of various inter-departmental committees and is a lead on the CPAIS-PP project.

Mike has been with OPPM for the last three and a half years and came from the Food and Nutrition Service. He has been in Government service for about 18 years. Mike and his wife live in Virginia, have three children and one granddaughter.